[letter addressed to "Miss Ann Lashbrooke Washington Ky"; postmarked "PARIS KY. Jan 21"]

January Friday 1833 [January 1833]

I expect my Dear Ann you are scolding at a terrible rate at me for not writing I know I should be half angry with you if you were to neglect a letter of mine as I have yours however "Forgive and Forget"

I hope to see you in eight or ten days Mr Brent intends going eastward and we expect to go down with him if the roads are not too bad and I hope they will not be for I am very anxious to see all my dear friends. I have not answered Mary Formans letter yet but tell her not to despair I will write soon she must not be so particular as to wait letter for letter but write when ever she can and so must you ~~write~~ Mr Hull is to give a lucture [lecture] at the Methodist church to night. [tonight] Give my love to Jane and tell her to write to me

Your affectionate friend

Jane [Chambers]
