Existence and Location of Originals: Digital copies of most of the collection are located in the Northern Kentucky University Digital Repository at <https://dspace.nku.edu/handle/11216/3243> Digitized documents date from 1821 – 1872 (Box 1 through Box 6 Folder 163) while transcripts continue to 1948 (Box 7 Folder 241).

The subgroup Henry Bruce, Jr, series IV on the Covington and Cincinnati Bridge Company includes copies of five documents from Box 4, folders 100-104. Initially the location of the originals was unknown. Per 2019/08/13 conversation with local historian/author Don Tolzman the originals are part of the John A. Roebling Papers, 1855-1859, n.d., Mss 587, Cincinnati Museum Center.

The location of the originals of Henry Bruce, Sr.'s personal correspondence, series I, is given as Virginia. Although the location of the originals for a number of other documents is unknown, this fact is recorded in the description for those documents to which it applies.

Henry Bruce, Sr. (1777-1855)

Was born October 30, 1777, in Stafford County, Virginia, to George Bruce, Sr. and Mary (Stubblefield) Bruce. His father, George Bruce, Sr. died in 1778, and he and his mother went to live with her family. In 1781, Mary Bruce remarried and Henry, Sr. was sent to live with his great uncle Charles Bruce. In 1789, Henry, Sr. left Charles to move in with his grandfather, William Bruce. William died in 1792, leaving Henry, Sr. to move back home with his mother, step-father and brother George Bruce, Jr. In 1793 Henry, Sr. ran away from home to Fleming County, Kentucky. Between 1794 and 1797, Henry, Sr., worked various farm labor jobs in Fleming County. In 1797, he purchased his first 50 acres on Johnson Creek. On January 11, 1798, he married Eleanor Threlkeld. Their first son, George S(tubblefield) Bruce, was born in 1800. Between 1802 and 1809, four daughters were born followed by Henry, Jr. in 1811, James Bruce in 1814, and three more daughters by 1821. By 1830, Henry Bruce, Sr., had a total of ten children, supported by three maiden aunts, he owned a number of slaves, and had a farm of more than 1,000 acres. Henry Bruce, Sr. died in 1855, and was buried on his farm in Fleming County, Kentucky.

Henry Bruce, Jr. (1811-1891)

Was born in 1811, in Fleming County, Kentucky, to Henry Bruce, Sr., and Eleanor (Threlkeld) Bruce. In 1830, he accompanied his father on one of his many hog drives through the South, ending in Sparta, Georgia where his uncle George Stubblefield Bruce, Jr. lived. That same year Henry, Jr. was sent to Florida to conduct more trading on his own followed in 1831 by a highly successful 2,000 mile business trading trip. Henry Bruce, Jr. married his first cousin Mary E. Bruce, daughter of George Stubblefield Bruce, Jr. In 1848 George, Jr. and his family moved into Henry, Jr.'s home in Covington, Kentucky. Henry, Jr. purchased a home (Rugby) on Sandford Street in Covington in 1853.

Eli Metcalfe Bruce (1828-1866)

Was born on a farm near Flemingsburg, Kentucky, on February 22, 1828, to George S(tubblefield) and Sabina Metcalfe Bruce. He attended local schools until 1847 when he began working at a dry goods store in Maysville, Kentucky. Shortly thereafter, he moved to northern Kentucky and worked with his uncle John S. Morgan, who owned a pork packing plant in Cincinnati, Ohio. He married Sallie Elizabeth Withers in 1853. They were the parents of Mattie Withers Bruce, George S. Bruce and Charles W. Bruce. Eli and his uncle Henry Bruce, Jr. started an iron furnace business near Terre Haute, Indiana in 1854. Five years later he sold his interest in the business. Eli was a successful businessman. Shortly before the Civil War began, he closed his northern businesses and moved them to the South. During the war he spent an estimated $400,000 of his own money supporting the Confederate cause in addition to providing other support. After the war and a presidential pardon, Eli moved to New York City where he became a cotton broker. On December 15, 1866, he died at age 38 in New York City, a victim of heart disease. His body was returned on December 19th and buried in Linden Grove Cemetery, Covington, Kentucky. In 1917, his remains were removed to Highland Cemetery, Ft. Mitchell, Kentucky and placed next to those of his wife Sallie, who died in 1915, and their daughter Mattie, who died in 1916. The Northern Kentucky chapter of the Sons of Confederate Veterans is named in his honor.¹

Mary Bruce (Green) Sharon (1877-1961)

Born in 1877 in Northern Kentucky to Richard Lashbrook Green and Henrietta (Bruce) Green, the young Mary spent much of her childhood among her mother's relatives in Covington, Kentucky. Following her father's death in 1878, Mary and her mother moved in with her grandfather, Henry Bruce, Jr., then living in Kansas City, MO. At the turn of the century she married Frederick C. Sharon, a Kansas City businessman. In 1948, at the age of 71 Mary Bruce Sharon began her painting career. A modern primitive, Sharon painted scenes from her Kentucky childhood. She produced 150 paintings before her death in 1961.

SCOPE AND CONTENT

The Bruce Family Papers is a collection of personal correspondence; legal, financial and business documents; and a few school records and literary works by twenty-four family members beginning in 1816 and spanning four generations of a large family into the 1950s. Most of the materials were created by five or six family members between 1831 and 1891. The Bruce family was a local Covington, KY family some of whom owned slaves and/or supported the Confederacy. There are some unattributed genealogical materials, family photos and unattributed literary works.

This collection provides a view on the business activities of Henry Bruce, Jr, (1811-1891); the daily and social life of a genteel southern family; a 19th century woman's life; 19th century health including cholera outbreaks; Confederate views on slavery; the perspective of one southern minister on slavery; slave sales, news of the Civil War and its impact on southern families and businesses; land transactions, information about 19th century banking, and business development in the northern Kentucky/Cincinnati region including the Covington & Cincinnati Bridge Co. (Roebing Bridge); several Kenton County Circuit Court decisions, as well as several early pencil drawings by the famed American primitive painter Mary Bruce Sharon.

SYSTEM OF ARRANGEMENT

Papers have been rearranged intellectually but not physically within the boxes. Individuals with the most significant bodies of papers are described first followed by the papers of the remaining family members organized by generation following the same sequence as the biographical history list. Five series at the end are grouped by format: family genealogy, correspondence, creative works, social items and leftovers. Personal correspondence has been separated from legal and/or business papers.

horses to sell in Washington. Prices for "our staple commodity" in "square bales" [probably hemp]. Political news about Georgia sending Democrats to Congress and fear that Georgia will support James K. Polk. Not concerned about his area of Kentucky in politics, but worry over the western and southern portion of the state. Strong belief in Henry Clay's ability to become President. Lengthy description for a pair of bay horses he wants to purchase from Bruce and when he needs them. Box 1, folder 24

12 July 1858 - ALS - E. R. Phillips [Maysville, KY] to Henry Bruce, Jr. [Covington, KY]. Mentions that he has fallen in with "a darkey preacher from Canada by the name of Mitchel". Mitchel, according to Phillips, was at Detroit and Windsor when he was there. Mitchel was on board the Caladonia [sp?] and came up to Ripley. Phillips notes that he has "improved the opportunity to gain all the information I could from him as he is well acquainted with the Parties in whom we are interested[.] he informs me that they have moved to Malden". On the back of the letter in Henry's handwriting is "E. R. Phillips / subject, Betty & Gilbert / July 12/58." This letter has overtones that Phillips may have been a slave catcher; the fact that Betty and Gilbert are identified only by their first names is also indicative that this is about runaway slaves. Box 4, folder 92

4 February 1862 - ALS - William P. Bruce [Carlisle, KY] to Henry Bruce, Jr. [Covington, KY]. Receipt of a check is acknowledged. The letter mentions family in the South, and the lack of communication do to the war. Cousin Pauline's upcoming wedding and other family news are also mentioned. Box 4, folder 110

14 July 1862 - ALS - Anthony Kilgore [Fernleaf, KY] to Henry Bruce, Jr. [Covington, KY]. Lists the prices for slaves recently sold at auction. Details the current state of the Confederacy as reported by a visiting "Rebel acquaintance". Also includes some Kilgore family news. Box 4, folder 111

29 January 1863 - ALS - Saul H. Clay to Henry Bruce, Jr. [Covington, KY]. The renting of a farm and the hiring out of slaves is discussed. Box 4, folder 116

21 June 1863 - ALS - Rev. S.L. Helm [Lexington, KY] to Henry Bruce, Jr. [Covington, KY]. Rev. Helm mentions a sermon he wrote during his recent imprisonment and offers to deliver it for the ill Nancy Bruce at her church, or at her funeral "if she cant get out". He writes that Henry Bruce is assured of finding slaves at a good price if he can send an agent to Lexington. He also mentions that Greater Cincinnati is becoming a booming slave market. Kentucky politics and "infidel abolitionism" are also discussed. Box 4, folder 117

27 July 1863 - ALS - Anthony Kilgore [Fernleaf, KY] to Henry Bruce, Jr. [Covington, KY]. Despite the news that "the rebellion is virtually ended", Kilgore believes that this is merely to increase enlistment in the Union army and that the war will not end soon. He also mentions passes needed to go South, and the lack of slaves for sale that Bruce may find suitable. Box 5, folder 122

16 October 1863 - ALS - James H. Bruce [Nashville, TN] to Henry Bruce, Jr. [Covington, KY]. James Bruce mentions that he is working for the Nashville Union, an abolitionist newspaper, because it was the only job he could find. He discusses procuring travel passes and the need to swear a loyalty oath, something he has avoided because of his newspaper employment. He finds this amusing as "there are only two Union men in the office". The present worth of Confederate money is discussed, as both possess such currency. James also updates his cousin on Ely and Sally Bruce who barely escaped before General Bragg's army. Bragg used their house for his headquarters. The house was burned after General Rosecrans arrived. Box 5, folder 126

3 December 1863 - ALS Lucy M. Dorsey [Carlisle, KY] to Henry Bruce, Jr. [Covington, KY]. The letter contains only family news conveyed in an odd fashion that indicates the letter may have been written in code. Box 5, folder 127

4 February 1864 - ALS - Rev. S.L. Helm [Lexington, KY] to Henry Bruce, Jr. [Covington, KY]. Briefly mentions leaving the outcome of the war in God's hands. Most of the letter is family news. Box 5, folder 130

10 May 1864 - ALS - F.M. Bruce [Brandenburgh, KY] to Henry Bruce, Jr. [Covington, KY]. Henry Bruce has sent a slave boy as a gift to F.M.'s son, Henry. F.M. Bruce writes that he has no room for the boy at present, but will take him later. He also complains about the lack of letters from a friend in the army. Box 5, folder 131
