

Regents OK Final Land Purchase

The NKSC Board of Regents hired a Public Relations Director Wednesday night.

Mrs. Sherianne M. Standley, 27, was recommended for the position by NKSC President Dr. W. Frank Steely and approved unanimously by the Board.

Mrs. Standley attended high school in Owensboro, Kentucky and is a 1967 graduate of Indiana University. Since then she has served as public relations director for the Indiana Democratic Central Committee and the Indiana Motor Truck Association.

The new PR director has resigned her position with a local insurance adjuster firm and will assume her duties at NKSC Monday, October 16.

Mrs. Standley's first project will probably be an Open House on campus Sunday, October 29, and to "get the ball rolling" on the traffic problem.

MORE LAND

The Board voted approval of a resolution by Dr. Steely to request the Division of Properties of the Kentucky Department of Finance start procedures to acquire approximately 80 acres of property adjacent to campus. The property could be the last purchased by NKSC.

"We hope this will be adequate for what we propose to do," Steely said.

The 80 acre area contains 12 parcels of land north of the campus and bound by I-275 on the west and north.

Cost will be in line with what has been paid for other similar properties, about $2000 per acre.

"I would hope that much or less," Steely commented.

There is now approximately $360-thousand remaining of $1.2 million appropriated for land acquisition by the 1970 and '72 General Assemblies. What is left of the fund after this final purchase, will be used for capital construction projects.

Administrative Affairs, John DeMarcus said it would be "a typical contract," giving NKSC control over prices charged and the quality of the food served.

The Wallace House itself must undergo extensive remodeling before it can be used as a student center. The remodeling, along with necessary reworking of the plumbing and electrical systems will cost about $8000.

CONSTRUCTION

DeMarcus reported to the Board that the heating and air conditioning systems in Nunn Hall have been accepted and that all the elevators should be in operation by October 31.

Regents Hall will host the basketball games even though the bleachers will not be installed until after the first of the year. Approximately 1000 folding chairs will be used until the bleachers are in.

The Science Building construction is running six weeks ahead of schedule.

DeMarcus said he and Dr. Steely have been meeting with the architects of the library. Design is proceeding at a satisfactory pace.

"I think the March ground-breaking date can be met," commented DeMarcus.

Regent Joseph E. Kohler of Bellevue questioned Dr. Claypool about the closing of the Bookstore in the evenings.

Kahler said he had received complaints from night students who found it difficult to get to campus during the day.

Claypool said he would look into the situation and also agreed to see that Regents Hall was open one night a week for student use unless there was a basketball game.

The Board also approved a resolution that a letter of commendation be sent to Dr. Frank L. Stallings, Jr., associate professor of English, on a recently published article.

SCHOLARSHIPS

Faculty Regent Dr. James Niewahner asked about scholarships for students attending NKSC. He observed that help was extended to high school seniors entering college, but seldom to students already attending.

Dr. Steely conceded, "When going after new folks, we may well be neglecting our own."

Steely said only seven per cent of the student body was receiving financial aid compared with other state schools where as much as 75% get help.

"No other state college provides less," he said. "Our students really pay their own way."

Dr. James Claypool, dean of student affairs, pointed out that two years ago (at Northern Community College) only seven students were on scholarships.

"Today there are 157," he stated.

The issue was referred for further study, but it was indicated it would be next fiscal year before the situation could be rectified.

HOT FOOD

November 15 is the target date for the completion of a grill in the basement of the Student Center (now the Wallace House).

The contract will be let soon to give the concessionaire time to set up the grill.

Auto Mishaps Plague NKSC

"Ninety per cent of all accidents on this campus are caused by just plain carelessness," says Roger Scales, director of security at NKSC.

According to Mr. Scales, this carelessness has resulted in an average of one accident per day on campus. As many as three accidents have occurred in a single day, he continued.

Mr. Scales says he hesitates to classify these accidents as "fender benders" since a great deal of damage has been sustained by vehicles and one injury has occurred.

The typical accident on campus, said Mr. Scales, involves two vehicles in the parking area, both traveling at speeds of 15-20 mph.

Mr. Scales believes that a great many of the accidents on campus are caused by drivers looking for parking spots who are so intent on avoiding parked vehicles that they do not pay attention to the moving vehicles.

There has also been a problem with drivers taking shortcuts through the parking lanes instead of using the parking lot aisles to exit and enter.

Mr. Scales explains that the accidents happen "any time of the day - all day." He said they not only occur at the peak times when classes are letting out, but also at odd times of the day when drivers think no one else is around.

One of the remedial measures being considered by NKSC administration is the painting of the word "STOP" in large letters at the end of each parking aisle. Hopefully, Mr. Scales explained, this would force drivers to stop and look before proceeding.

If speeding becomes a problem, he continued, speed bumps will be installed "wherever needed."

Mr. Scales believes that part of the problem is that "everyone is new to the campus." He hopes the accident rate will decrease as motorists become accustomed to the parking areas.

Anyone involved in an accident on the NKSC campus should immediately inform one of the security police who patrol the campus in state vehicles. In the event a security

SG Representatives To Show Objectivity

Northern's Student Government elections have yielded their annual crop of representatives and we challenge those students toward revitalizing the organization.

The prospects of a fresher and more progressive SG is encouraged by the campaign promises of many of the newly elected representatives.

Most candidates promised to make an effort at reflecting the true nature of their constituency and proposed to turn SG's efforts toward serious issues.

We believe that despite the poor voter turnout, SG representatives are a reasonable cross section of the student body. It would seem that the basis for establishing an important role for student in the decision making process at NKSC is therefore available.

In exercising this power, consideration should be given to soliciting some sort of a consensus of opinion from students on critical issues before these matters are brought to a vote. The process of estimating student opinion has traditionally been a rather subjective matter consisting of the representative relating that "Most students I've talked to agree with me."

Perhaps attention to formulating a more accurate and objective "opinion poll" is in order. Such a Poll might be in the form of mimeographed query letters or in the form of tear-out sheets in "The Northerner."

If representatives are to "reflect" the needs and feelings of the student body, they must have some sort of device to gauge that sentiment.

Simple being a student at NKSC does not automatically make anyone an expert on student problems and concern. Only by actively seeking advice and suggestions can representatives hope to gain the confidence and support of the student body.

Blood Drive To Be Held November 9th

The Management and Organization group has organized a blood drive to be held Thursday, November 9, from 1 to 9 p.m. in Northern's student lounge and auditorium. Ken Urlage, spokesman for the group, explained that the drive will be held for benefit of the Hemophiliac Society.

In order for the mobile blood unit from the University of Cincinnati Blood Bank to come to NKSC, 150 people must each pledge to donate a pint. Processing during the drive will take place in the lounge area, drawing will be located in the auditorium. Urlage mentioned that each donor will receive a $1 coupon from Newport Burger Chef as well as a ticket on the door prizes that will be given. Coke coolers, record albums, and a bedspread are among the prizes.

If anyone is unable to come to the mobile unit on campus, he may go to the UC blood bank located behind General Hospital anytime day or night. He will receive full credit for his donation if he mentions that it is for the drive for the Hemophiliac Society blood drive sponsored by NKSC.

Urlage discussed the dire need for blood. Hemophilia is a hereditary disease that prevents blood from clotting normally. Blood collected during drives such as this is broken down and the coagulants stored for use later on. There are over 100,000 hemophiliacs in the US and each person uses between $5000 and $6000 worth of blood each year. They must rely largely on the donations of friends and relatives and this source is not always available.

For further information on the drive, please contact Ken Urlage, Ted Sipple, Norb Stroer, or Linda Kneple, or Carol Hiller in the Student Activities Office.

Get Your ID's Now

A considerable number of students have expressed confusion and concern over the delay of issuance of student ID's.

The initial (and continuing) reason many ID's are still not available is clearance through the Business Office, according to Mrs. Carol Hiller, Student Activities Director.

"The main reasons cards have not cleared through the Business Office are students have not paid their tuition or full-time students have not paid their student activity fee. They cannot get an ID card until this is taken care of," Mrs. Hiller explained.

She also advised scholarship and rehabilitation students to check with the business office to see if all fees have been paid.

The following is a schedule for students to claim their ID cards:

Friday, October 13, 9am-5pm, Student Activities Office

Monday through Wednesday, October 16-18, 9am-5pm, Student Activities Office policeman cannot be located. Mr. Scales says that the Business Office will be glad to help.

An accident report will then be prepared for insurance purposes. Mr. Scales describes such a report as "an objective opinion of what happened" with no denotation of fault made. These reports are kept on file in the business office for perusal by the insurance companies involved.

This same reporting procedure should also be followed in cases of vehicles found damaged, vandalism or stolen property.

Mr. Scales believes the situation could be helped if everyone would take turns when leaving the parking areas and would obey the student traffic help.

Above all, says Mr. Scales, his advice to all drivers on campus would be: "Be courteous."

Lecture Series In Doubleheader

Northern's continuing Lecture Series will feature two guest lecturers next week., Dr. Edmund Reiss and La Verne Lobdell.

Dr. Reiss is professor of English at Duke University, and he will be lecturing on "Literature as Fantasy." He is a well known expert on medieval English literature and specializes in the writings of Chaucer. He received his B.A. and M.A. from Penn State University, and obtained his Ph.D. from Harvard in 1960.

Dr. Reiss is also a prolific writer, having written over thirty articles ranging from Chaucer to Walt Whitman. He has published three books, "Sir Thomas Mallory" (Twayne, 1966), "Elements of Literary Analysis" (World, 1967), and "The Art of the Middle English Lyric" (Georgia, 1972). He also has two forthcoming books, "Arthurian Legend and Romance" and "The Shipman's Tale". He will lecture on Thursday, October 19, at 12:10 p.m. in the Nunn Auditorium.

La Verne Lobdell spent seven years in prison at San Quentin and at the Jackson State Prison in Michigan. While incarcerated he discovered "The Prophet," a book by Kahlil Gibran. He says hard thought and meditation has led him from the path of drugs and crime to a life of peace and love.

He is an avowed disciple of Gibran, and speaks freely about his thoughts and philosophies. "Happiness," said Lobdell, "is Gibran." He recites his thoughts by the hour "So that I might share his words of wisdom with all who would listen of his own free will."

He will speak on "The Hell of Drugs and Crime and the Wisdom of Gibran" on Friday, October 20, at 12:00 pm in Nunn Auditorium.

Set Building-Full Speed Ahead

According to Frank Cornelius, one of Northern's drama majors, the set for the upcoming Fine Arts production of Thornton Wilder's THE SKIN OF OUR TEETH will be the best ever in this college. "This will be the first time we've had a real stage to work with," he explained, "and the lighting will be greatly improved. This will also be the first NKSC play to have a set designed by a professional."

The professional referred to is Dr. Robert Williams, who, with a group of about 20 students, has been hurrying to finish the sets and lighting for the play in time for opening night October 19. The hayloft of the barn in the Keene Complex has been used by the crew as a workshop for this purpose.

Dr. Williams is a new addition to Northern's staff this year. He has about eight years' experience in professional set design, and has done work for opera and musical comedy as well as legitimate theater, both regular season and summer stock. His undergraduate studies were done in English at UCLA and in theater at San Jose State College, after which he attained his masters degree from Iowa University and his doctorate from the University of Washington. Dr. Williams teaches scene design, as well as other theater classes.

Set building is a laborious art which requires as much muscle as it does talent. "Most of the students who have been helping build the set are not even theater majors," Dr. Williams commented, "because theater majors are usually concerned only with acting. Most of this crew came from the orientation to the theater class, and have done a better job than most drama majors are capable of doing."

A bigger set construction crew was essential to this production, which will use two separate sets, each one larger than any previous ones used on this campus. This will be the first NKSC play to use more than one scene; previous productions were limited to one stage setting due to lack of space.

Lighting effects in this play will be minimal, but will present a great improvement over earlier Northern plays. The primary source of light for the stage will be Klieg lights in the beam position, which is directly over the audience, rather than the footlights and overheads which are commonly associated with the theater. "There is a place in theater for footlights and overheads," Dr. Williams explained. "There is a certain amount of snob appeal in footlights, for instance. But we won't be using them in this play."

Set builders are among the forgotten majority of theater personnel who must be content to be applauded anonymously while the actors and playwrights share the public eye. Nevertheless, the lighting and scenery is an integral part of modern theater, and the success of any play depends on the design and construction of the set.
