

Ziegler Greeted By Press, Protesters

Ronald L. Ziegler, press secretary to President Nixon, visited NKSC Friday afternoon, where he held a press conference in the auditorium of Louie B. Nunn Hall following a brief introduction to students and college officials at the Reception Center.

At the reception, Ziegler was introduced to Gary Wagoner, president of the campus Young Democrats. Wagoner wore a conspicuous McGovern button and Ziegler greeted his handshake with the question, "You must be from the press, aren't you?"

A group of demonstrators numbering about 50 had assembled in front of the main entrance to Louie B. Nunn Hall and greeted Ziegler and his entourage as they approached with the chant "OUT NOW!!" The demonstration involved a faction of students, but was not sponsored by any one particular campus organization. Members of a chapter of the Vietnam Veterans Against the War (VVAW) participated in the on-campus demonstration also.

Vice-president John DeMarcus addressed the audience gathered in the auditorium and told them that it was the intent of the college (meaning both the administration and Student Government) to safeguard the individual's right to freedom of speech and that Ziegler's visit was an exercise in free speech.

Immediately following DeMarcus' introduction, President W. Frank Steely delivered a speech welcoming Ziegler to the new campus on behalf of the administration, faculty, students, and staff of the college. A short comment from a student was hurled at the podium at that time. Dr. Steely immediately reiterated the college's position on the issue of protecting freedom of speech.

Ziegler responded to questions from the press and fielded questions from students.

About 15 minutes after the news conference began, approximately one-third of the capacity crowd walked out.

When asked about the President's plans for ending the war, Ziegler replied, "Our intent is to bring this war to an end through peaceful negotiations. This war can be ended, it will be ended as soon as the other side is willing to negotiate. We are moving men out. There are now less than 30 thousand of our men in Vietnam. The President does not want to impose a Communist government on the South and he has done everything he said he would do."

A student who was disillusioned by the amount of tax money deducted from his pay check asked Ziegler if there was any legislation proposed that would give college students a tax break. The press secretary responded that he was likewise disillusioned but stated, "I know of no such legislation at this time."

On the subject of the youth vote, Ziegler remarked that the young people's response was remarkable but not overwhelming.

"Young people want to examine the issues; they're focusing on where they want this country to go. Putting the polls aside, an awfully lot of young people do support the President," Ziegler added.

Ziegler wound up the press conference by describing the President as "...a warm, compassionate, hard-working man who also has great wit."

Vendu-Menu In For A Change

The "Gourmet Room" in the lounge in Nunn Hall is going to undergo quite a face-lifting in the near future.

M & M Vending Company has been awarded a two-year contract for the concession.

The current concessionaire is Sterns Vending.

Under Kentucky regulations, vending contracts must be negotiated every two years and M & M nudged all other companies in the bidding recently.

"People really can't expect to go to a vending machine installation and get the kind of food they would get at their favorite supper club, of course," said Charles McKenney, M & M's owner. "But I think there are things that can be done to keep people happy. We are going to go 'all out' to give them (students) the proper food."

The old machines will be removed and the new ones installed between October 13-16.

"All the machines installed will be National equipment," McKenney explained, "and National is about the best available."

The color co-ordinated vending machines will be of the "furniture style" and will all be equipped to change quarters. Dollar bill changers will be installed at either end of the banks of machines.

"We are going to have the latest micro-wave ovens, with detectors on them," McKenney said. "The Food and Drug Administration outlawed some of the older type ovens that gave off a lot of radiation. These ovens have the detectors and are the newest and finest thing in the field."

Most of the food will be of the regular vending machine variety with the exception of pizza.

McKenney said, however, M & M was open for suggestions.

"We are going to try our very best," he declared, "and if we fail somewhere we want to know. Maybe some of the students or faculty will give us an idea."

"If there are any complaints that we are not doing what they want, we want to hear about it," McKenney stated.

Work is also progressing on a plan to bring hot food to NKSC. Dr. James Ramage, administrative assistant, reported to "The Northernner" that they will soon advertise for bids. The contract is scheduled to be awarded October 15 with the short-order service to be in operation about November 1.

The "soup and sandwich" service will be located in the basement of the brick house on Louie B. Nunn Dr. That house is now occupied by Dr. Lew Wallace, chairman of the history department.

The lunch counter and the vending machines appear to be the only eating places "in the works" within walking distance of campus.

In an informal survey of many of the major quick-food concerns in the Greater Cincinnati area, the consensus is that the influx of business would be too inconsistent to warrant such an investment.

"I have had a lot of calls about property out there," said Robert Lindner of Frisch's Real Estate Department, "but I don't think the area is quite ready."

Other companies polled expressed a willingness to sell franchises, but not to actually open a restaurant themselves.

It is common knowledge that the cost of real estate has spiraled since the college was designated for the John's Hill Road area.

But, most companies indicated it was the prospect of spradic business rather than the high cost of property that caused them to shy away.

SG Elections Botched; Rescheduled Oct. 2 & 3

Student Government elections have been canceled and rescheduled for October 2 and 3.

The reason for the cancellation stemmed from a paid advertisement contracted by the Office of Student Activities that ran in last week's issue of "The Northernner."

The advertisement listed the various candidates for SG positions, but inadvertently omitted several statements from a number of students who had already submitted them.

SG elections were rescheduled in order that the students whose statements were printed would not be given an advantage over those candidates whose statements were omitted. (Editor's note: Those missing statements appear elsewhere in this issue.)

Student Government President, Dave Garnett, issued this release about the mix-up:

"I don't place the blame on any one person or organization, least of all 'The Northernner.'"

The decision to postpone the elections was approved by Dr. James Clappool, dean of student affairs; Dr. William Oliver, advisor to Student Government; Mrs. Carol Hiller, director of student activities and SG President, Dave Garnett.

To insure against another mix-up in SG elections, steps are being taken to allow more time between the filing date for petitions and the elections (the present time span is one week).

In future elections, incumbent SG officers will handle all election procedures. This semester's elections were coordinated by the Office of Student Activities, since SG members have no permanent office and operate out of that office on a temporary basis.

Yearbook Named

"The Polaris" is the name chosen for Northern Kentucky State College's new yearbook.

The pictorial portrayal of Northern's collegiate history and student life will be the main emphasis of the 1972-73 yearbook.

"The Polaris" will consist of 25-300 pages (depending on the budget) and approximately 20-32 pages will be color.

Presently 30 full-time students and three editors comprise the "Polaris" staff. Senior Greg Whalen, a NKSC business major, is editor of "Polaris." Greg Schwartz, also a senior business major, is the business manager. Senior English major Shelley Pryse works as assistant editor.

Any other student interested in working on the yearbook may come to "The Polaris" office (building No. 2) or contact Miss Lyla Haggard, yearbook advisor.

Especially needed are student photographers who are interested in creative yearbook photography. Film and processing materials will be supplied.

Every full-time student who paid their $10 activity fee will receive a yearbook. Students will also have their formal pictures taken on campus by Osbourne, Inc. Faculty pictures will be taken informally.

Scheduled to be published in mid-July, students will be notified when and where to get their yearbooks.

Hunter Publishers of Winston Salem, North Carolina are the publishers. Members of the editorial staff are traveling to North Carolina next week to tour the main plant and learn more about the composition of a college yearbook.

"The Polaris" will not contain advertising but will have two patron pages. Donations are $25 a line and are tax-deductible. This money will be used to help finance general supplies.

Fraternities Form Council

For the first time in NKSC's history, an Interfraternal Council has been established, which is made up of representatives from each fraternity on campus.

Objectives Noted

The objectives of the council are:

*to promote the interests of the college.

*to promote the interests of the fraternities represented.

*to promote the interests of college fraternities in general.

*to insure cooperation between the fraternities and the college authorities.

*to insure cooperation among fraternities on campus.

*and to establish cooperation and mutual understanding between local communities and social fraternities.

Freedom Of Speech Defended

The appearance of Presidential press secretary Ronald Zeigler, on campus last week seems to have stirred student opinion in several directions.

Some believed that his reception should be the same accorded any other man occupying the office, while others took issue with that view and sought to display public notice of their disdain of Zeigler as representative of the Nixon administration.

What actually occurred was that the former viewpoint—that the office, not the man should be honored—prevailed. However, the latter position—demonstrating public disapproval of the Nixon administration—was in evidence during the day of Mr. Zeigler's visit, though confirmed mainly to a minority presence.

It seems likely that the college is certain to receive other noted governmental and public figures in the future, and that all of us must come to some sort of common opinion as to what our behavior toward them should be.

During Mr. Zeigler's stay, there seemed to be no concerted effort toward shouting him down or otherwise impeaching his right of free speech. In fact, the small, but nevertheless prominent, demonstrations aimed at him relied heavily on signs and occasional cat-calls from the audience—hardly a stifling pressure. It was a pressure, though, all the same and any disruption of speech or train of thought can be interpreted as an abridgement of free speech.

If there are disagreements with Mr. Zeigler's politics, meet him on his own grounds—the political arena—that's where you are likely to do him the most harm. Or, if you feel an overwhelming need to counteract his presence on campus, petition someone of equal stature and or an opposing viewpoint, to rebut his positions. (Reportedly George McGovern's entourage was contacted, but declined to appear. Perhaps, another political figure of a similar political stance could be persuaded to appear?)

The important point to remember, however, is that Northern's campus forum must be open to everyone, or it will serve no one. There must be divergent opinions or uncompromising dogma results. No educational institution can claim intellectual curiosity and then refuse to hear arguments from varying sources.

Even if speakers of the most reprehensible (in your opinion) character appear, it is your obligations as a student to listen and critically evaluate his remarks. More than your obligation as a student, it is your duty as a part of the corporate human body to guarantee your fellow man his right to speak if no other reason but to insure your own free speech.

For, Voltaire is reported to have said, "I may disagree with what you say, but I will fight to the death for your right to say it."

SG Section Incomplete

In last week's issue of "The Northerner," the section entitled "SG Elections" was, to say the least, incomplete. The section proposed to list all Student Government candidates and a short statement from each one of them concerning their candidacy for the September 25 and 26 SG elections.

The section, however, was not a part of "The Northerner's" regular news content. Instead, it was a paid advertisement contracted by the Office of Student Activities—the official, co-ordinating agency for SG election—and compiled by that office. Through a mechanical error, though, the section was not labeled as a paid advertisement, apologize to the candidates listed in that section whose statements were omitted or jumbled.

As a word of explanation, the staff of "The Northerner" is not the official agency for the listing of SG candidates. The Office of Student Activities is the definitive source for all information regarding Student Government elections.

In formulating the special "SG Elections" section, "The Northerner" had originally intended to cover the event as a regular news story. However, we were approached by the Director of Student Activities. She proposed that we carry an extensive listing of each candidate as well as a picture of each one. She cited a previous issue of "The Northerner," published a few years ago that carried similar Student Government section as significantly contributing to the large voter turn-out in that election.

"The Northerner" accepted the offer of a paid SG section with the proviso that all copy for the section would be compiled by the Office of Student Activities so all candidates would be covered as impartially and accurately as possible.

We must point out that the Office of Student Activities is grossly understaffed—the sole full-time employee is the director. Not only is the office expected to coordinate the various activities of scores of organizations, but also the problems and day-to-day tribulations of 4000 students. Little wonder that adding the responsibility of conducting elections nearly swamps the entire operations of the office.

Attention Black Students

Dr. Chris Broadhurst has announced his intention of teaching a US history course with a Black experience emphasis next semester. He requests the help of Black students in planning the course.

To accomplish this, a meeting has been scheduled in Suite K, the Miller Landscape, 5th floor on Monday, October 1. The meeting will be in session from 11:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. If a student is interested but cannot attend, he or she is requested to put a note in Dr. Broadhurst's mailbox in the faculty lounge.

Some Contest!

Now that Student Government elections will finally be held, we wonder if anyone has noticed how many offices are uncontested.

A significant number of offices will be filled without challenge. It seems any student who can secure the required number of signatures for a petition can be elected to the office of his choice

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

To the Editor:

At this point, the question of who takes the blame for this election fiasco is not really important. However, I feel that the basic cause was the Student Government Constitution itself. When the Constitution was drawn up two years ago, it was felt that the period of time between the deadline for filing petitions (the third Monday in September) and the actual elections (the fourth Monday and Tuesday in September) was adequate to arrange for and handle all the paraphernalia and chaos which is inherent in an election of this type. It seems that this supposition may be wrong. True, this period proved to be perfectly adequate for some of the candidates, and to those candidates, all I can say is I really regret that this had to happen this year. I know that this is going to cause problems, potentially rather serious one, in your individual campaigns, but I don't think we can afford to turn our backs on those who, by some oversight or another, were misrepresented, and those who, by the same oversight, were not represented at all.

To insure that problems of this type will not happen again, (I hope) we are currently drawing up Student Government Constitutional Amendment number 3 which states:

1) that the deadline for filing petitions for the office of President and Vice-President of the Student Government shall be changed from the third Monday in April to the SECOND Monday in April.

2) that the elections of Student Government Representatives shall be changed from the fourth Monday in September and the following Tuesday to the first Monday in October and the following Tuesday.

We ask for the students approval of this Amendment, as well as their support for Student Government Amendment number 1 (J-Council to Student Court). We also ask for the approval of the Board of Regents.

Thank you
Dave Garnett
Student Government President

Dear Editor:

Let the truth be known to the Senior Class students for it is their duty to elect Senior Class Officers for the first graduating class of Northern Kentucky State College.

The 1971-72 Junior Class President is currently running for Senior Class President. He promises "to promote scholarships, school spirit," etc. He promises to lead the class "in support of NKSC." And he promises to "stimulate Senior Class involvement in class activities and other school functions."

YET, past experiences has PROVEN that as Junior Class President, he did, in fact, preside over three and no more than three official meetings for the entire nine month period. I ask you...did he promote scholarships, school spirit, etc. in the Junior Class? did he lead the class in support of NKSC? did he stimulate the Junior Class to become involved in class activities and other school functions?

HOW COULD HE?
WHEN DID HE HAVE TIME?

signed,

Judy Baker

Following is the complete list of candidates and the offices which they are seeking in the upcoming Student Government Elections.

KAREN THOMAS (REPRESENTATIVE AT LARGE)

A representative at large listens to the views and problems of the entire student body. As a representative of the students of NKSC, I will work to bring these problems directly to the student government. The student voice should be and will be heard.

RAY RACK (SENIOR CLASS REPRESENTATIVE)

Student government needs to adequately represent the student population which is a preponderant majority of a college community. I will work to combat the lack of student power regarding its environment. This includes student input into class elections and curriculum formulation. Student government should be able to bring about "meaningful" student activities.

DICK REIS (SENIOR CLASS REPRESENTATIVE)

It's time to put a stop to $3,000 dances that are only taken part in by a few. We need activities that more students can enjoy.

PATTY HAAS (SECRETARY OF FRESHMAN CLASS)

I'm running because Northern is like "Bonanza." It could use another Haas.

STEVE TONER (SENIOR CLASS REPRESENTATIVE)

There are improvements to be made such as a cafeteria installation, music in the student lounge, a course offering in speed reading and student involvement in ecology and business programs which give practical experience and aid in obtaining a good job upon graduation. The student government itself needs better communication in order to solve student problems.

This is my last year at Northern after four years on the Covington hill. I'll graduate in May with degrees in Business Administration and Political Science. If elected I'll work for improvements and the senior interest.

Thank you for your vote.

GRANT NORTHCUTT (VICE-PRESIDENT OF SENIOR CLASS)

When people get together and plan a well organized political platform, they are thinking of the future. My running mates and I have done this. I desire to represent the senior class for the purpose of dealing with the desires of the majority of the class. I want to end the reign of people who run for office because it is the thing to do. Our school is fed up with people who are elected and do nothing. I will do something!

(John Wagner's statement in last week's issue was erroneously attributed to Grant Northcutt.)

DONALD GOODRICH

I would be very happy to serve the students at NKSC as representative at large. As a freshman, I feel we should have more representation than the two class representatives. I consider myself qualified because of two years experience in high school student government. I will represent the entire student body to the best of my ability and do my utmost to voice your grievances, and to help solve your problems. One of my special gripes is the ridiculously low speed limit on Louie B. Nunn Drive. I will do everything I can to get this speed limit raised. Whenever a student has a grievance or a suggestion, I will be more than willing to listen to it. I would also like to stimulate more student interest in the student government and to provide more activities for them to participate in.

GARY L. EITH (TREASURER OF FRESHMAN CLASS)

The freshman class needs as their representative a person with experience who is not afraid to speak their views to the council and administration. I believe I qualify for such an office, having experience in student government and club officerships in high school. If elected, I will listen to the grievances, complaints or problems which will inevitably exist in a new class and college, and voice them to the people which they involve, as a true representative should.

PAM BERRYMAN FRESHMAN CLASS REPRESENTATIVE

As a freshman Class Representative I hope to promote within the freshman class a feeling of being an essential part of the student body.

DAVID R. LANGE

In developing a student oriented campus society, a student government functions much like a community government, offering goods and services an individual could not obtain by himself. I hope to be elected to serve in student government for that end.

PENNY SCHIRA (SOPHOMORE CLASS REPRESENTATIVE)

As sophomore class representative I hope to act as a stepping stone between the student government and the student body. I hope to help make decisions that reflect the voice of the students since that is the sole purpose of student government.

SAUNIE OTTEN (REPRESENTATIVE AT LARGE)

I would like to become involved in student government because I love NKSC and would like to become involved in it . . . outside class. I do know the responsibility involved.

DEBBIE ZEIS (REPRESENTATIVE AT LARGE)

As a student representative in student government, I intend to represent the student. It is but a simple farce for a small group of people to voice their own wants and needs in a reflection of the student body as a whole.

NKSC is new in community affairs and must become an integral way of life. The student branch of power must play a major role because the development of our students and our school is essential.

Student government is established for the growth and benefit of each individual student. Our hands must not be tied by a defective student government.

I see it as my duty as an involved student on the NKSC campus to aid in guarding the rights and desires of the students and to establish a basis for community involvement in NKSC must also be involved in the community.

JUDY BAKER (SENIOR CLASS REPRESENTATIVE)

The purpose of student government is to represent the students of NKSC; to make their problems known and to help solve them. For this to occur, student government members must be interested in their fellow students and not afraid to become active in student activity committees.

I believe that I am such a conscientious student and if elected, will be an asset to student government, as well as to my senior class.

DIANE ZIEVERINK (SOPHOMORE CLASS VICE-PRESIDENT)

I am running for student government representative at large to help make the student government an active part of the NKSC student body. The student body has a need for more student-involving activities; I would like to see some of these activities brought about in just more than plans and papers.

CHELA RICHARDSON SOPHOMORE CLASS SECRETARY

I pledge to work towards uniting the sophomore class. I would like to involve all students in their class activities and help alleviate student apathy.

DENNIS EGOLF (REPRESENTATIVE AT LARGE)

I am running because I believed the students of Northern are not getting a fair representation in student government. If elected, I will do my best to see that they will get a fair representation.

Paid Political Advertisements

ROBERT J. ANSTEAD

I am running for student government because I have a clear recognition of the highly limited powers of the student government and despite the difference involved in terms of the limited powers of student government, I feel I could be an effective representative.

TINA SCHULZE

As a representative of the sophomore class, I intend to work for a student government that reflects the desires of the student body.

ANN HELM FURMAN
(REPRESENTATIVE AT LARGE)

It is my belief that NKSC promises to be the largest college in this area and one of the best colleges in the nation. To fulfill this great potential, however, it is necessary for students and faculty to join together in pride, loyalty and mutual understanding. We must strive to upgrade our existing courses and to widen our horizons, increasing our scholastic achievement. The student voice regarding these issues must be heard. You should have a voice in making the policies of your school. As candidate for student representative at large, I hope to be the medium through which your voice is heard and to begin to accomplish these great goals for NKSC.

STEPHEN W. BRANCHRepresentative-at-Large

Unfortunately, apathy still has a stronghold on the NKSC campus. This year, student government should make a supreme effort to give the students a common point from which to work. It is my intention to represent all students, - veterans, Greeks, and freaks, to the forgotten student on the Covington campus.

MELODY MALONEYFreshman Secretary

The only way the younger generation can understand and change the government is to get involved while we are still young. Student government is the best way to get involved with our governments.

G. NORTHCUTTVice-President

As vice-president of the senior class I will assist the president in trying to: 1) Familiarize the name of NKSC throughout the community 2) Unite the senior class as a strong, interrelating body; 3) Plan and organize educational and social events benefiting the class as a whole; 4) Listen to you and your ideas and attempt to implement them. I feel that my experience as vice-president of the junior class and my involvement in many other school activities will qualify me as your senior class vice-president.

MAVIS BOWLINGFreshman President

As a candidate for freshman class president, I hope to make it more than just an empty title. It will be, instead, a position of action and not merely words. My purpose for running is for the betterment of the freshman class and the school, and not just for the advancement of one particular organization. I feel I am qualified and the job will be done and it will be done well.

GARY WAGONERJunior Class Representative

My election is assured but I feel confident that Dave Lange and myself will represent the sentiments of the junior class and the school as a whole to the faculty, administration and community. And will be available whenever any student has a problem that we can resolve.

CINDY STICKELSFreshman Representative

I would like to see student government become a large and respected part of NKSC's campus. For this reason, I am running for freshman class representative. I would voice the feelings of my class to the best of my knowledge and ability.

MIKE TUCKERRepresentative-at-Large

To try to work, with the rest of the representatives, toward the establishment of a solidified student organization the Student Government will be forced to recognize and deal with. Talk to me if you don't believe it!

JIM ZIEGLERRepresentative-at-Large

As your student government representative, I will strive to increase student representation and involvement and seek to give all students a greater voice in their education. Qualifications: Five years college exposure; genuine student interest; desire to see a better educational institution.

TOM THOMPSONSenior Class President

I am running for Senior class president because I feel I can unite the senior class into doing something-and I am open to suggestions. If elected I will try to communicate with the community so as to get Northern's name as an educational institution known to the community-benefiting those who are to graduate in the near future. There are many problems at Northern and I will do what I can do to help.

JOHN VALLANDINGHAMSophomore Class Treasurer

I will cooperate with the other class officers in management of the class funds and I promise to do the best I can so that the class may benefit.

DEBBIE ROBINSONSophomore President

I think the sophomore class needs an officer who will stick to the constitution and do things for their class, not just sit around all year and not do nothing.

SAM DAYRepresentative-at-Large

Being a member of Student Government means very little unless one is willing to work toward a certain goal. One aim I plan on working toward is bridging the gap between the student and the administration, thereby giving the student a voice in the happenings at Northern. More than ever with our growing atmosphere, we need a working organization that the student can use as a tool.

PAT SEELIESenior Representative

As senior representative I will work for an efficient student government; one that will get things done and make his presence felt on this campus and others.

GREG HATFIELDRepresentative-at-Large

It is beneficial that all students at NKSC should be represented for total unity. The "average" student has been put off too long. It is on this note I stage my campaign for representative at large.

CHARLES BURTONRepresentative-at-Large

The responsibility of the Student Government is to represent the students of NKSC. Certain areas have to be changed to fulfill this obligation to the students. This is the main reason I wish to be elected as representative at large so, I, with others, can help make this college more responsible to the students.

JAN HARTMANJunior Class Vice President

Class officials have the commitment to work with their class and other class officials to form the union of and the cooperation of all students. This is the goal I seek.

LINDA BOWLINGJunior Class President

The office of class president should mean something above and beyond serving on the J-Council. The president's main purpose should be to unify and serve their perspective classes.

JOHN A. WAGNERSenior Class Representative

As senior class representative, I will continue to represent you and your individual demands. May past record in student government has proven my sincere concern for the members of my class and my desire to represent the beliefs of my fellow classmates. I hope that I can once again serve you as your representative.

THOMAS P. HOLLEYPart Time

With a part-time student population of over 1500, 1/3 of the entire student body, the position of part-time student representative stands to serve a vital role in Northern's student government during the coming year.

It is my primary concern that all part-time students become full partners in the NKSC educational process. With respect to this goal, it is my intention to serve as the central liaison between part-time students and the student government. Moreover, I will dedicate myself to being available to help serve all the necessarily unique problems faced by part-time students. I look forward to meeting this challenge.

JERRY ROBINSONSenior President

Ours is the first graduating class of NKSC and it is important to set standards and traditions for the classes in the future years.

Due to the inability of past class presidents I feel compelled to run as president of senior class. If elected I will implement programs that will benefit all students of the senior class and will see that they are carried out completely.

GREG WHALENSenior Class President

I, Greg Whalen, if elected promise to carry out the high ideas of achievement, scholarship, and school spirit of the senior class. I promise to stimulate senior class activities and participation of the class in other school functions. I promise to establish and uphold the senior class constitution. Finally, I promise to lead the senior class in support of NKSC and in its growth here in Northern Kentucky.

JERRY HELMRepresentative-at-Large

Proper representation should be a critical concern of the students of a college or university in today's world. The only way to avoid becoming just another number in the computer is to exercise your voice through your representative on student government. It becomes mandatory then for the student to choose experienced competent representatives to act as his or her voice in the workings of their institution.

I feel I have that experience and competence. I am currently a member of Dr. Steely's Advisory Board, and have been a student government representative, a member of the committee which took constitutional changes to the Board of Regents, and a member of the committee which drafted Northern Academic Courts and Codes system. These accomplishments fully illustrate my desire to serve you, the students of NKSC.

DENNY EGOLFRepresentative-at-Large

I am running because, I believe the students of Northern are not getting a fair representation in the student government. If elected I will do my best to see they will get a fair representation.

GARY DIRHEIMERRepresentative-at-Large

Because I feel that the students need a fair voice in matters concerning them.

BOB WIEBEJunior class Secretary

All class officers have an obligation to their class and to the college to serve in a unifying capacity becoming that office.

PAMM SCHULTESophomore President

The sophomore class is second in size to the freshman class only. I feel that if elected as President of this class, I will be able to lead them and help them to exemplify the high ideas of this new college and set the pace and example for the new freshman class.

JAMIE A. TUCKERRepresentative-at-Large

I'm running because student government needs to be made legitimate.

J. KEITH TILLERYFreshman Vice-President

I am qualified to hold the position of vice president of the freshmen class. I will listen to the problems of freshmen and try to solve them.

HOLLY BOSWELLRepresentative-at-Large

Student government can only function well if interested students participate. Interested students will give their time to make sure school policies meet the needs and wants of the students. I am an interested student at NKSC.

Communications Guide Ready

"In far too many high schools, English teachers who know absolutely nothing about mass communications have been stuck with teaching the subject," said Mrs. Lois Sutherland, NKSC journalism instructor.

The Curriculum Commission of the Kentucky Council for Education in Journalism has now remedied that with the publication of a Curriculum Guide for high school teachers of journalism, she added.

"Learning About Mass Communications" is the result of three year's work by the Council.

"The guide," said Mrs. Sutherland, "Has been prepared for the high school English teacher who must teach communications and journalism with little or no formal background in the subject."

"So many high schools in the state are going to 'phase electives' for senior and are including mass media in their curriculum," she added.

In explaining that the guide is "consumer oriented," Mrs. Sutherland added that while the commission hoped that many students would pursue communications careers, they felt that most would not.

The primary aim of the high school journalism course should be to help students become intelligent consumers of media products.

The eleven units in the guide are the result of work of members throughout the state.

Mr. Russell Anderson, Campbell County High School; Sister Mary Josette, S.N.D., Notre Dame Academy; Mrs. Betty Schmitz, Beechwood; and Mr. Jack Westwood, Erlanger Lloyd High School, were the local educators who worked with Mrs. Sutherland on the Entertainment Unit. Mrs. Sutherland was also on the editing committee with

ID Date Is Still Uncertain

Further delay can be expected in the student identification card dilemma. The ID cards are now being prepared, but according to Director of Student Activities Carol Hiller, "I have to borrow secretaries to type them."

Information on the cards must also be checked for errors. It is a time-devouring process, but when coupled with a lack of personnel it becomes worse, according to Mrs. Hiller.

The additional factor of a broken laminating machine assures even more delay before students can relax with the knowledge that all pertinent aspects of their lives are recorded and preserved in plastic.

Carol Hiller declined to venture a tentative date for completion of the ID cards.

Closed Meetings A Some Time Thing With Regents

When is a secret meeting really a secret? Not, it would seem, when everyone knows about it.

Case in point: A closed caucus after the Board of Regents meeting September 13.

Following adjournment of the regular meeting, Board member Kenneth Lucas, at the request of faculty legal advisor Phillip Taliaferro, asked the other Regents to remain after everyone else had gone.

That caucus was reported in the local printed media as a mysterious secret meeting.

"In my judgement there was much 'to-do' over nothing," Lucas told "The Northerner." "How could it be a secret meeting when I announced in front of 30 people that we wanted the Regents to stick around, that Phil wanted to talk to us for a few minutes? Now, what's secret about that?"

The closed meeting lasted over a half hour.

"What is was," Lucas reported, "was when we all got together, one issue led to another. There was really nothing of great significance. There were just a few things we wanted to chat about."

"Had we really tried to hold a secret meeting," Lucas went on, "and got caught, that would have been something else."

Why would the Board of Regents want to close a meeting?

Lucas explained that when the subjects like the hiring of personnel are discussed, the Regents feel it is better many times to handle it behind closed doors. And, of course, the person being considered, may not want his present employer to know he is looking for another job.

"Nobody has any ax to grind or any special interest," Lucas said. "All we are trying to do is the best job we can in running the school, and I think at times it takes some closed meetings."

Outlaw Recalls Munich Olympics

By Terry Boehmker

"It was numbing, there wasn't a thing I could do about it, it was just unreal."

These are the recollections of Dr. Jerry Outlaw, NKSC assistant professor, who was in Munich, Germany, during the tragic murders of the Jewish athletes during the recent summer Olympic games.

Dr. Outlaw considered the Olympic trip (which he won in a contest) the perfect vacation for a "track and field nut" such as himself. However, his esteem for the excellence of Olympic competition was somewhat clouded by the controversies that marred the games.

Dr. Outlaw voiced his criticisms stating, "the excessive nationalism of the games takes away from the Olympic ideals of friendship and athletic accomplishment."

As an example, Outlaw cited the controversial incident of the two black U.S. runners, Wayne Collett and Vince Matthews, who were denied participation in future Olympic games for refusing to respectfully stand at attention during the playing of the "Star Spangled Banner" after their track victories.

Tryouts Dates Set

Coach Mr. Hils announced that basketball tryouts will be held October 9 in Regents Hall.

Two times have been set for the convenience of the students at one and three p.m. Any student carrying twelve or more hours is eligible to try out.

Tryouts have been postponed from October 2 to the ninth, the lines on the gym floor are to be painted on the second of October.

"The Olympics are individual competition...all national affiliations should be overlooked...they (Collett and Matthews) were the ones who worked and trained, hard and long for the games. It was their accomplishment," claimed Dr. Outlaw.

Still, despite his criticisms, Outlaw believes that the Olympics do foster global brotherhood, at least among the athletes.

"The athletes themselves aren't nationalistic, they continually promote the Olympic ideals."

This statement by Dr. Outlaw is best supported by the Olympic posters that decorate the walls of his office. These posters of Olympic track events illustrate honest competition of man against time, distance and his fellow man.

Intramurals Cancelled

Coach Mote Hils, NKSC Athletic Director, extends his apologies concerning the cancellation of the soccer and flag football intramurals.

Hils had hoped to play the games on the ballfield behind Regents Hall but didn't realize that the field was to be seeded during the next two months.

"I'm very thankful that so many people signed up for the intramurals," commented Mr. Hils who is looking into the possibilities of moving up the start of the intramurals basketball program to October 22 to compensate for the cancellation of soccer and football.

All that glitters is not (necessarily) gold. It could, for instance, be the NKSC Golden Girls in their new uniforms.

Almost everything about the 1972-73 Golden Girls will be new and exciting this year says Mrs. Irene Brownfield, Golden Girls Director.

There will be 18 Golden Girls this year as compared to 14 last year. Seven of these girls were members of last year's squad. They are: Captain Jackie De Hart, Co-Captain Holly Boswell, Pamela Applegarth, Karen Fisk, Carla Hardebeck, Tracy Lovelace and Aprilie Ziegler.

Tryouts were held in April and the new members of the squad chosen are: Carol Brandenburg, Debra Cox, Melinda Cross, Debbie Derrick, Wanda Dibert, Brenda Griffin, Debra Lanham, Shelley Schlecht, Susan Shepherd, Cynthia Sticks and Paulette Ziegler.

Mrs. Brownfield observed that the 18 members of the Golden Girls squad represent nine area high schools.

The girls have been practicing one night a week since June 1. In September, they began practicing two nights a week. In October, this will expand to three nights a week.

Mrs. Brownfield says that she and the squad are grateful to the Immanuel United Methodist Church in Lakeside Park for allowing them to use their facilities for these practice sessions.

Beginning this season, the Golden Girls will not only perform at half time of the NKSC basketball games, but will also perform in a pre-game show.

The pre-game shows will be mainly precision marching leading into the National Anthem. The half-time shows, instead, will be dance routines.

Mrs. Brownfield is quick to point out that the Golden Girls are not just a drill team, but are "a precision dance drill team with lots of kicking."

Track Club Coming

The organization of a track club at NKSC is being considered by the Northern Athletic Department.

Mote Hils announced that he has appointed Dr. Thomas Tierney to look into the possibilities of such a club.

The girls hope to have a new half time show for every game.

The NKSC Golden Girls have been busy in other areas, too. In June, they had three booths at the Fun Fair. In August, two of the girls (Sophomore Jackie De Hart and Junior Debbie Derrick) attended a drill team workshop at Ohio State.

Also, in August, the Golden Girls served as usherettes at the Kincaid Park Improvement Program.

They recently served as hostesses and usherettes at the Science Day Program at NKSC.

As for next year, Mrs. Brownfield stated, the girls have already been asked to perform at the Alexandria Fair.

The Golden Girls have some fund raising projects in the works, too.

Any organization that would be interested in having the Golden Girls perform should contact Mrs. Brownfield in Dr. Tessener's office.

"I'm really enthused about these girls," says Mrs. Brownfield.

SING THE BODY ELECTRIC WEATHER REPORT

Esquire magazine lists Weather Report as one of their "heavy 100" rock musicians; those who read this description, please forget it. Weather Report is pure jazz; electronic eccentric, and very involved. The group's main members, Joe Zawinul (piano keyboards), Wayne Shorter (reeds) and Miroslav Vitous (bass) are old comrades of Miles Davis; on their first two Columbia albums they've used a myriad of percussionists and guest musicians in their cause.

Some kind of music degree is recommended if you want to really understand this LP; the music is advanced to a degree not usually found in recordings today. Most listeners, in fact, will probably just consider it wierd, but if you want to broaden your listening abilities, this is the recording for you.

demonstrates this ability in places, although some sections of the film would have been better left out.

The resemblance between this film and the book of the same name ends with the title and the questions introducing each section. The film, is divided into little vignettes which satirize and burlesque the subject. The general philosophy of Allen's comedy is to emphasize the embarrassing; some of the scenes lead one to hide his head in shame. The biggest problem in this movie is the script, which sometimes leaves the actor mumbling the end of a sentence where the punch line appears too soon. I personally fail to be amused by Allen's use of purposefully poor jokes, but others may disagree with me.

The picture is currently showing at the Studio Cinemas in downtown Cincinnati. It is highly advisable to buy advance tickets to avoid frustration from extended waiting in line. The movie is certainly a good one and worth seeing.

The Store For Baggies

"Religion and politics are what I consider the first two essentials to man. Therefore I decided to run for public office because I consider politics a necessity."

Those were the answering statements made by Arthur Schmidt—the President of NKSC Alumni Association and local chairman of the Committee to re-elect President Nixon—in a reply to the question "Why did you decide to run for public office?"

The brief question and answer session was organized on Monday morning by Mrs. Enid Henry, Assistant Professor of Political Science, as a supplement to her lectures on state and local government.

Schmidt was a former State Chairman of the Young Republican Club of Kentucky and former Cold Spring City Councilman. Currently he is the Assistant Minority House Leader of the Kentucky State Legislature.

In a reply to a question on overriding the Governor's veto he said the last time one was overridden in Kentucky was at least 30 years ago. Furthermore, the veto could be overridden by a constitutional majority of the legislature.

"The Governor" he said "cannot succeed himself. There must be a break of at least a term of office before he could contest again" Schmidt added.

Schmidt told the audience that a house committee must report on every bill sent to committee regardless of the committee's decision on the bill.
