

Council OK's Funds - But No Center

NKSC got an early Christmas present November 15 to the tune of $12.5 million from the Kentucky Council On Higher Education.

The Council voted to recommend to the Governor's office that Northern be allocated that sum for capital construction projects.

The Governor's office must grant its approval before the allocation can be recommended to the Legislature. Such approval is usually "rubber stamped."

The capital construction projects are: a general classroom building, $5 million; fine arts building, $5.5 million; a heating substation, $1 million (the substation is a requirement from the State Engineering Department); $175,000 for intramural fields; $250,000 for parking lots; and $400,000 for a maintenance building.

All construction requests with the exception of a student center were approved by the council.

The Council indicated a student center would have to be built with other types of funding.

"The council said student centers at the other state colleges," NKSC President Dr. Frank Steely explained, "were not built with General Fund monies. They were built with auxiliary funds."

Student fees, profits from special activities, and other operations are pledged for the sale and retirement of bonds.

"It is this approach we will have to explore," Steely said.

Other than for the fine arts building, which is currently being programmed (with Council approval) it will likely be 1975 before construction contracts are awarded.

The Council also approved a 30% increase above the fiscal 1973-74 general fund budget.

The operating budget for the first 7 year of the next biennium is approximately $6 million.

The Kentucky state colleges will also split approximately $1.8 million in growth money. Northern's cut has not been determined.

Board of Regents Re-elects Steely

The NKSC Board of Regents awarded President Dr. W. Frank Steely with a new four year contract Monday.

The new contract calls for Steely to remain at his present $35,000 per year salary with annual salary increase considerations. He will also receive maid service and a state car, all standard benefits for state college presidents.

Steely was also granted tenure as a history professor.

The vote on the renewal was 7-2 with one abstention. Student regent Dave Garnett and Warren Shonert of Falmouth voted against renewal. Faculty regent Dr. Michael Endres did not vote.

Chairman of the Board of Regents, Mr. Kenneth Lucas, stated, "We as Regents have to look at the institution from a broad point of view. Looking back over the last four years, and looking forward to what things are best for the institutions, I personally felt he (Dr. Steely) should be hired for four more years. As Regents, we must look at what is right for the institution."

Garnett told The Northerner that he had voted against Steely's retention as president because "I think that the school would be better off with a new president."

Shonert said he felt that Steely should not have been present at the meeting. Shonert also complained that he received only a ten hour notice on what the agenda for the meeting would be.

In other actions, the Board approved a $12 graduation fee to cover the cost of printing diplomas and other items.

The Board also deferred action on a motion to set aside ten acres on campus should the Kentucky Board of Education decide to build a new vocational school here.

Smile Please!

The Polaris will be taking group pictures on Dec. 4 and Dec. 6. This is the final date that group pictures can be taken. Any group that is interested, please submit time, date and place within five minutes of campus to Susan Heitzman in Admissions by Monday, Dec. 3.

Dec. 6 will also be the last date that groups can submit information for an article to be included with the picture. It is also the deadline for any candid shots to be taken by our photographer or candid pictures the group might have on hand. All information must be turned into Susan Heitzman.

Some groups may not believe this is the last chance for them to get their pictures in the yearbook. But are they ever going to be surprised!

Drop-Add Day

According to an announcement from the Admissions Office, drop-add day has been moved to January 2. It will be held from 11:00 a.m. to 4:00 p.m. and 6:00 p.m. to 8:00 p.m. in Room 407. A two dollar fee will be assessed for adding and there will be no charge for dropping. No drop-adds will be permitted during Registration.

Thieret's Essay Published

Dr. John W. Thieret, Chairman of the Department of Biology at Northern Kentucky State College, has published an essay entitled "Sex and the Angiosperms" in SIDA, a botanical journal published at Southern Methodist University in Dallas, Texas.

In his essay, Dr. Thieret comments on the historical development of terminology descriptive of sex in flowering plants, and points out that this terminology originated about 200 years ago, or well before reproduction in these plants was well understood. It makes a plea for modernizing and correcting this portion of the botanical vocabulary in light of present knowledge.

Dr. Thieret joined the faculty of Northern Kentucky State this year after serving for eight years as Professor of Biology at the University of Southwest Louisiana. He holds the Bachelor of Science and Master of Science degrees in botany from Utah State University, and a Ph.D. in botany from the University of Chicago.

Student Art Exhibit In Lounge Dec. 9

Ceramics, prints, paintings, and photography will be some of the featured art work at Northern's first Student Art Exhibit and Sale being sponsored by the Art Club in the Student Lounge on December 9. This Sunday event, is uniquely timed for those of us who are preparing for the winter holidays, for some of the displayed art will be available for purchase.

In addition, a select committee of students and faculty will review the entries prior to the 11 a.m. to 7 p.m. exhibit in order to maintain a highly satisfactory presentation. The Art Club is still accepting entries for the Exhibit and Sale for those students who were not aware of the November 20th deadline. These students should contact Jane Bresser at 341-9556 and attend next Thursday's Art Club meeting at 12:15 in the Ceramics Building.

NKSC will have a coffeehouse again! The performers for the December 7 event will be Jim Lipp and Rick Lisak. For the story see page 7.

Evaluating The Evaluations

'FOUR MORE YEARS'

A Communication Gap

"The Northerner" has observed a very basic lack of communication on this campus in the recent "confrontation" between members of the administration and Student Regent David Garnett.

We observed a great deal of rumor and emotional reaction in this situation and because of rumor, hysterical speculation and dual definition, the facts never became quite clear.

By the time this situation is straightened out, the issue will no longer be of interest. Shades of Watergate.

What has happened at Northern seems to be a microcosm of what is happening in the nation — and throughout the world.

This situation appears to be predicated on lack of communication coupled with lack of reason. There are too many rumors and not enough facts, too much emotion and not enough logic, too much speculation with too little data.

There has been much too much unnecessary tension on this campus.

Teacher evaluation forms were passed out in the classes this week and along with the forms, there was much talk being passed around. Question number eleven was discussed, the purpose of the forms was discussed, who was reading the forms was discussed and the significance of the effort was discussed.

The not always reliable rumor mill has spread the word that the forms are used as weapons against instructors whose jobs are already in precarious positions.

Not so, said Dr. Price. "Very little weight is attached to the forms in matters pertaining to the retention or dismissal of an instructor," he stated. "That's not their purpose," added Dr. Steely.

Then what IS the purpose of the forms? A non-violent release of student aggression, perhaps? Wrong again, according to our interviewees. Steely finds the "anonymous assessments" of students to be a "great help to the individual instructor."

Price pinpointed the comment section and stated that it aided in evaluating an instructor by "allowing the chairman of a department to see just how many students have signed up for electives under a certain instructor."

The method, according to Steely, was initiated three years ago by a group of faculty members who revise the questionnaire annually. Dave Garnett, student government president, stated that Price had asked SG to conduct the distribution of forms and they had complied.

Are the evaluations taken seriously by students? Sure, said Price, perhaps not with a "long-faced" type of seriousness, but with some gravity. Garnett said he personally felt they were a good idea and that student opinion was favorable. Garnett added that he appreciated being able to tell the teachers how he felt about them.

And then there was the ominous sounding Question II. This is the one students were requested to ignore and that asked if the instructor in question encouraged loyalty to NKSC. How did something that Mein Kampf-ish get into this otherwise mundane questionnaire? The answer is — by mistake.

One faculty member explained that the question had been reviewed by the officers of the Faculty Assembly and the Faculty Affairs Committee and two objections had been raised. One, it was felt that this was a challenge to the instructors' freedom of opinion and, two, that it was inserted without advice or consent of the faculty as it had been previously voted down.

As it was by that time too late to delete the question, it was decided to leave it on the form but to instruct the students not to answer it. "It did not mean loyalty to the administration," Price hastily added.

So here we are filling out ambiguous forms with questionable implications given to us by an unidentified source. Status quo.

The couple of valid suggestions we have heard: 1) gearing the questions to evaluate a course under an instructor and not an instructor personally (hopefully circumventing personality conflicts), and 2) effecting some mechanism for feedback to the students (some student governments print unofficial catalogs giving incoming students something to gauge schedules by).

Again, we are soliciting opinion. Write your local friendly editor and tell him (or her) how you feel about this type of questionnaire. Should they exist? Should the results be known only to the particular instructor, his chairman and Dr. Tessenor as is now the case? Do you care at all or just simply fill out anything put in front of you? Surely you have an opinion. Let us know.

In The Wake Of Controversy

Monday night, the Board of Regents voted to renew President W. Frank Steely's contract for four years. Regent Warren Shonert and Student Regent Dave Garnett voted against the renewal. Faculty Regent Dr. Michael Endres abstained, and the other seven members voted in favor of reinstating Steely. The next day Garnett claimed that he had lost his job with John DeMarcus' office . . . Ed.

Garnett told The Northerner that he had voted against Steely's contract renewal because "I think that the school would be better off with a new president." When asked whether he felt his losing his job was a direct result of his vote he stated, "I'm certain of it."

He explained that he had worked for DeMarcus all last year but that he had left for another job over the summer. When he returned this fall he asked DeMarcus for his old job back. DeMarcus explained that he had no provision in the budget for a job for Garnett but that he would work something out.

Garnett got a job in the mail room but he also did errand work for DeMarcus' office. Garnett also claimed that he did some research work for DeMarcus but DeMarcus disavows any knowledge of any research work. Garnett stated that he received two pay checks but that now he does not have one of these checks. Garnett felt that therefore he had been fired. Employment records in the Business Office, produced by Mr. Bill Smith, business manager, and shown to The Northerner indicate that Garnett had not been taken off the payroll. Billie Say, administrative assistant, further stated that she had not signed Garnett's time cards since the first week of October, although time cards had been turned in.

"I can assure you it was an erroneous assumption," DeMarcus stated. "I did not take him off work study — I have no authority to do so. As far as I know, he is still on work study. If I had been out to get the kid, I certainly wouldn't have done it the day after the meeting. I'm very even tempered and fair but to be accused of something very erroneous bothers me."

Steely stated, "I have made it plain to everyone that there are to be no recriminations. In the first place, it is stupid; it would be preposterous. Nobody has fired him: He has not been fired at all."

Regent Chairman, Mr. Ken Lucas, said, "I don't want to promote controversy, however it is my opinion that Dave is not carrying out his role as a Regent in the proper perspectives. By this and numerous other previous actions, he seems to be interested only in his personal notoriety."

"He is clever in meetings to say things which draw attention to him, to make him a big man on campus with dissidents who are against anything and everything that the institution tries to do — when he should be doing what is best for Northern," continued Lucas. "He is a brash young man who can't handle the honors and responsibilities given him."

A Student Forum will be held Friday at 12:00 noon in Nunn Auditorium to discuss the situation.

Point And Counterpoint

The Parochial Issue

By Donald F. Goodrich

"Congress shall make no law respecting an establishment of religion, or prohibiting the free exercise thereof ..." As Thomas Jefferson wrote in a letter in 1802 the purpose of the First Amendment was to build "a wall of separation between church and State."

Public education involves three basic principles: (1) Universal free education must be available for all in common public schools supported by taxation upon everyone, (2) In order to protect freedom of conscience, the public schools should not engage in religious instruction, (3) In order to keep church separated from state, public funds cannot be given to religious schools.

The argument exists that the true purpose of taxation for education is based on the premise that it is merely to subsidize parents in order to obtain the type of education they desire for their children; so why not tax credits for these parents? Why then, I ask, could not this use of tax credits be applied to parents who wish to send their children to all white, racist schools?

It seems like common sense, that if a church feels that members of their religion are for some reason unable to acquire the type of education they desire them to obtain from a public school, it is only rational they pay fully for the alternative.

All proposals for aid are based on the false premise that no matter how much it might cost to aid private schools, it would cost much more to absorb their pupils in public schools. The fact is that projected enrollment declines in most public elementary schools would make transfers economically feasible.

The public education system has enabled diverse groups of people to come together in America. In our pluralistic society, it is essential for law and order that people of extremely diverse beliefs and outlooks live, work, and go to school together peacefully.

The purpose of the First Amendment was not only to protect religion from government but to keep bitter religious controversy out of public life by denying to every religion an advantage of getting control of public policy or public funds.

America's public schools have an excellent record in history, founded on the view of the good society. They respect individuality, reflecting and building an order in which differences are regarded as a contributing strength — not a weakness.

I see no possible way for aid, in lieu of the First Amendment, all existing forms of aid today should be considered unconstitutional with the exception of a constitutional amendment. This would be a tragic mistake that I would be forced to oppose. The state does better to stay religiously neutral, refraining from any positive or negative action.

By Gary L. Eith

Many people believe today that the parochial issue is dead, due to the past U.S. Supreme Court decisions allowing only for round-about services such as transportation, textbook loans, and other auxiliary services. In reality it is not dead and will not die. More and more people will begin to understand the utility of parochial school aid. They will realize that without it, parochial and private schools will not survive, thus causing an overload in the public school system which will inevitably result in higher property taxes.

The parochial school rolls have declined in the past seven years by 33%. The University of Notre Dame's enrollment dropped 46% since 1970. Where do the students go? Either to a state institution or nothing, excepting of course grade and high schoolers who have no choice but to go to a public school. One might ask what is wrong with a state institution. The answer is nothing, yet in the words of Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas, public schools try to "mold all students alike."

Parochial and private education unquestionably does much to contribute to the American society. Those schools are today providing urban children from poverty-level families with education and care of a higher quality than big school systems deliver, and often at no charge. Many new, innovative educational ideas are being explored in these schools. They provide a difference from a norm. They are the allowance for diversity in the American educational system.

It is only fair and just that taxes support all schools. There must be a choice allowed. Parents choosing non-public education for their children have a right to some educational benefit for their taxes and when they do not receive that right, freedom of choice is impaired and the First Amendment cast aside. The Amendment states, "Congress shall make no law respecting an establishment of religion, or prohibiting the free exercise thereof

..." The livelihood of religious as well as private institutions is hindered by the existence of taxes that do not benefit a large number that pay them.

What lies in the future for parochial when a conservative Court casts it down time after time? Wilbur Mills, chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, understands the situation and, in the "Christian Century," he said that he supports tax credits (a reduction of an individual's tax bill, given for specific purposes), "even if the Supreme Court votes against them." Charles Whelan, a professor at Fordham University of Law related in the same magazine that the granting of tax credits would just be an "extension of the concept of the income tax deduction allowed for all charitable purposes."

Did you know that according to a recently released study that cigarette smoking can be directly related to the causing of face wrinkles? In other words, cigarette smoking can flab your face.

President Nixon favors some form of public aid to parochial and private schools, his reasoning being an existing need for "educational pluralism." In March, 1972, the Commission of School Finance recommended that "federal, state and local tax sources provide aid to non-public education through means of tax credits, tax deductions for tuition, tuition reimbursements, scholarships for needy children, plus the 'child benefit' services such as transportation, nutrition and health services, examinations, textbook loans, etc."

There are many other people advocating parochial, but the Supreme Court nullifies any law allowing for it due to its Constitutionality. The future allows for either Constitutional Revision or a Supreme Court overturning of a decision.

The New York State Senate Majority Leader has sponsored a resolution calling for a Federal Constitutional Convention to amend the U. S. Constitution so as to permit some form of parochial.

Senator Robert Taft of Ohio has offered a similar proposal, says Edd Doer in "Education Digest."

So, the question lies in the public or nine men. The answer will not come soon.

Old Colonels Champs

Last week, the Old Colonels clinched a perfect season with a 13-0 victory over Skyline Cafe to win the NKSC Intramural Football Championship. The Colonels dominated the game with their ball control and won the game on big plays. They broke open a rather close defensive battle with two such plays. The initial touchdown came on a 42 yard pass play from Terry Bolin to Bob Wynn. Kevin O'Toole hit John Hennessy on the extra point, for a 7-0 lead.

The final touchdown that put the game on ice for the Col's came on a 54 yard pass from Kevin O'Toole to Pat O'Toole, the third time the O'Toole's have teamed up for touchdowns this year.

At 13-0, that's how the score remained as neither team mounted any serious scoring threats in the closing minutes. Skyline has its ups and downs, but just couldn't get on track against the unbeaten Colonels (8-0), as they bowed out at 6-2.

Berea Battle, A Defensive Win

NKSC Norsemen evened their record at 1-1 Wednesday night when they edged Berea College 85-80 in one helluva defensive battle.

Guided by the gutsy defensive play of 6'5" forward Ken Ewald and the 11 point scoring performance of 6'3" sophomore Jeff Stowers, the Norsemen only trailed by one point 38-37 at the half time buzzer.

Coming into the second half both teams tightened up their already tight defenses as the game was tied 11 times in the second half.

Berea took a 74-72 lead with one minute to go but NKSC fought back to tie the score at 74 all and sent the game into overtime.

Mike Wilcox 6' sophomore, sparked the Norsemen in the five minute overtime grabbing a big defensive rebound with 58 seconds left. He also sank a pair of three throws with 37 seconds remaining to put the Norsemen to stay 83-80. A last second layup by Rick Derkson put the icing on the cake 85-80 to give the Norsemen their first victory of the season.

NKSC will fly to Tennessee State this Saturday in hopes of putting their record above the .500 mark.

Junior Varsity Meets Defeat

A defensive breakdown in the second half spelled defeat for the NKSC Junior Varsity basketball squad who had their college debut ruined by the Wright State University's (WSU) JV team 85-72 Wednesday night at Regent's Hall.

Behind the seven rebound-seven point performance of 6'6" forward Mike Piening, the Junior Norsemen managed to keep in pace with the Raiders who led by only one point, 32-31, at the half.

However, WSU disrupted NKSC's tight man to man defense early in the second half. By spreading out their offense formation WSU pulled the Norsemen away from the basket which allowed the quicker WSU players to beat their man to the hoop and score the easy layup.

The Raiders broke open the contest in the first five minutes of the second half outscoring NKSC 11-6 to lead the Norsemen 43-37 with just under 15 minutes to play.

Sparked by 6'1" guard Mike Hough, who finished with 22 points, WSU soon improved their lead to 68-50 with 5:28 remaining to play. This was the Raider's largest lead throughout the contest.

Bill Schild's 20 points and Jay Perin's 21 points were tops for the Norsemen. Northern's Junior Varsity will journey to Xavier University Dec. 5 to try to even the record.

Lipp, Lisak To Debut Coffeehouse

Jim Lipp and Rick Lisak will debut Northern's "Pearl Harbor Coffeehouse" on Friday, December 7th. The coffeehouse series, produced last year by Friends of the Watch, will be continued under the management of IOC's Coffeehouse Committee. Lipp and Lisak, having appeared at last year's March coffeehouse, and July's "Bring a Friend Concert", will return at 8:30 p.m., Friday night. A noon preview performance will also feature the duo, who are presently appearing at Crow's Two and The Owl in Cincinnati.

Also appearing at the coffeehouse with Lipp and Lisak, are Robert and Violet Webster. Students of Morehead, the two have appeared at The Step Above, Hoagy's, and MSU coffeehouses.

The "Pearl Harbor Coffeehouse" is a result of a renewed interest this semester. Student's seeking a relaxed atmosphere, have submitted various requests about the existence of the coffeehouse. In response, the Inter-Organizational Council voted at last Wednesday's meeting to fund a coffeehouse series as one of its first student service projects for this year. The committee, temporarily chaired by Greg Hatfield, is planning to provide refreshments during the evening. Students interested in joining this committee and helping produce the coffeehouse, are encouraged to contact Greg Hatfield at either Ext. 234 or 218.

Also at the coffeehouse, after the featured guests, will be an 'open mike', for the remainder of the evening. The performers will be arranged in advance. Hatfield, acting as emcee, will establish the program on a first come basis. Students are encouraged to notify him concerning the nature of their performance, whether it be jazz, rock or poetry, and come to the coffeehouse before 10:00 p.m.

The P.A. will be composed of existing Nunn Auditorium facilities and equipment provided courtesy of McVee Sound Systems. In addition, special staging will be provided at the northern end of the Student Lounge.

With the last day of regular classes occurring on December 7, the coincidence of the coffeehouse is obvious. The time for a comfortable break before finals is just one advantage to attending the "Pearl Harbor Coffeehouse." A small admission fee of fifty cents will be collected at the door.

SAM to offer job interview 'role' program

Professor James Carr, faculty advisor to the Society for the Advancement of Management (SAM), announced that SAM will sponsor a job interview role playing program December 2, in room 319, Nunn Hall.

Every student currently in the job market is invited to attend this "informative session."

The spring membership drive for SAM is in progress, also. SAM is "an organization dedicated to the practical education" of all students who "expect or aspire" to be managers, according to Carr.

"Every effort is made to provide a meaningful, career-oriented experience for every member," Carr said, "through the association with other students and expert, practicing managers, and through varied programs and activities."

For further information on SAM, students should contact Churk, Payne at 341-2340, Mike Singleton at 441-9074 or Professor Carr in room 584, Nunn Hall.
