

Three Tanka

by Jane Stuart

in the mirror
trees in starlight
a cold glittering
reflection—
you said goodbye

tiny snowbirds
in the holly—
plump red berries
under leaves
in the looking glass

early sunlight
streaks the barn roof
an owl remembers
from his rafter
last night's storm